UTENSIL TALE

Vicente Wolf, the inveterate traveler and interior designer-of-choice to Clive Davis and New Line Cinema President Michael Lynne, is launching "Jasmine," his first silverware collection. Inspired by a small spoon used to make offerings to the Hindu god Shiva, the five-piece settings are typical Wolf. "I carried this little spoon around with me on my last trip to the subcontinent and on to Amsterdam where I wanted to reacquaint myself with my favorite still-lives at the Rijksmuseum. Seeing the art reminded me of the similarities shared by 17th century Dutch silver and this little utensil," he says. With his own stylistic twist, he married the two distant influences within the Jasmine design.

Evoking the sense of another time, the silver looks both modern and old, and adds glamour and a hint of the exotic to any table setting.

ON THE MOVE...

AFTER ATTENDING SUCH ELEGANT EVENTS AS A YACHT SHOW IN MONACO AND THE ANNUAL WINTER FESTIVAL IN ST. MORITZ, MAYBACH DIRECTOR OF SALES AND MARKETING LEON HUSTINX TOOK TIME OUT WITH US TO DISCUSS THE UNIQUE APPEAL OF THE MAYBACH 57 AND 62, HIS PERSONAL VIEW OF LUXURY, AND THE PERFECTION.

€ What is it about the Maybach that has captured the imagination of luxury car buyers? Leon Hustinx: The Maybach is just as much a saloon carriage on wheels as it is a "butler" car. It offers amenities thus far missing in the top luxury segment. To drive a Maybach means to glide
